Bosse High School Climate and Engagement Report

Instructional staff (e.g., building-level administrators, teachers, and classified instructional staff), families and students (grades 3-12) from all schools in the Evansville Vanderburgh School Corporation (EVSC) were invited to complete the School-Level Climate and Engagement Survey in February of 2010, February 2011, and February 2012. The survey measured three primary domains:

School Climate refers to the extent to which positive and supportive relationships exist between students and staff, and aspects of school culture, such as a welcoming and safe school environment. Specific subscales include: Relationships among Staff and Students, Relationships among Staff, Welcoming Environment, and Safe School Environment.

Family Engagement refers to open and mutually supportive relationships among families and staff, along with the level of family participation in the decision-making process related to school issues. An overall Family Engagement subscale comprises this domain. A single indicator for staff was also included to gauge awareness of overall district family engagement policies.

Student Engagement refers to the extent to which students are behaviorally, emotionally, and cognitively invested in the learning process, and the extent to which staff facilitate an engaging learning environment. Specific subscales include: Behavioral, Emotional/Affective, and Cognitive Engagement, and Student Engagement (Staff Focus). Single item indicators for challenging learning environment and supportive relationships were also included.

Results are organized by the three overall domains and respective subscales. The last section includes single item indicators related to satisfaction and quality.

Response Rates

The following considerations should guide interpretation of response rates: (a) Response rates inform the extent to which frequencies presented in this report are likely to reflect the actual perceptions of the population in question. While descriptive data are provided for all groups, caution should be used when interpreting findings for groups and survey time periods with lower response rates; and (b) All response rates should be considered approximate. For example, while each family respondent/household was intended to provide only one survey response, it is possible that duplication exists on a small scale for all groups. Response rates by each participant group are provided below.

A. Relationships among Students and Staff Subscale

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

Table 1. Summary of Aggregated Agree and Strongly Agree Responses for All Subscale Items

C. Welcoming Environment Subscale

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

II. Family Engagement

E. Family Engagement Subscale

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

Table 5. Summary of Aggregated Agree to Strongly Agree Responses for All Subscale Items

G. Student Engagement: Behavioral Subscale

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

H. Student Engagement: Emotional/Affective Subscale

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

I. Student Engagement: Cognitive Subscale

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

K. Student Engagement: Staff Focus Subscale (Student)

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

L. Student Engagement: Staff Focus Subscale (Family)

The overall percent of agreement (agree and strongly agree) for each subscale item is summarized below for each participant group by each survey administration (2010-2012). Next, frequency distributions for each subscale item are presented. Each response option is first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, and then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.

P. Overall School Quality (single item indicators)

Families were asked to respond to two items related to the overall quality of education within the EVSC. First, participants were asked to rate the overall quality of education in the EVSC from poor to excellent. Next, participants were asked to indicate the extent to which improvement in quality is being observed. In the tables that follow, percentages for each response option are first presented with “Don’t Know” responses included in the total, then with “Don’t Know” responses excluded from the total.
